ALEXANDER G. SILVERSTEIN

85 Orchard St, Somerville, MA 02144

646-801-2348; aslvrstn@gmail.com

Pittsburgh, PA

Graduated May 2010

Experience

TableauCambridge, MAStaff Software EngineerJune 2018 - Present

- Designing and developing statistical features in Tableau

Empirical Systems Cambridge, MA
Software Engineer May 2016 - June 2018

Built statistical programming platform

Google New York, NY

Senior Software Engineer

— Tech Lead of Google Contributor team

June 2012 - Present

DRW Trading Group London, England

Senior Software Engineer July 2010 - June 2012

Developed and supported proprietary, web-based trading platform

Bloomberg L.P.
Software Development Intern
New York, NY
May 2009 - August 2009

Extended and maintained multiple functions on the Bloomberg terminal

Carnegie Mellon University - Qatar Doha, Qatar

Teaching Assistant January 2009 - May 2009

Served as Teaching Assistant for three undergraduate computer science courses

Amazon.com Seattle, WA

Software Development Engineer Intern May 2008 - August 2008

Developed migration utility from Simple Storage System to Elastic Block Storage

Extended internal management utility in Ruby on Rails

Versatile Systems, Inc.Mechanicsburg, PAJava Development InternshipMarch 2005 - August 2007

Developed self-service credit application kiosk in Java

Education

Carnegie Mellon University

B.S. in Computer Science

Graduated with University Honors

- Minor in Economics
- GPA: 3.53

Notable Coursework:

- 15-441: Computer Networks
- 15-415: Database Applications
- 15-410: Operating System Design and Implementation
- 15-381: Artificial Intelligence
- 15-359: Probability and Computing
- 15-312: Principles of Programming Languages

Skills

Operating Systems: Linux (Gentoo, Ubuntu, and Slax)

Computer Languages: Proficient in Python, C++, Java, LATEX

Competent in Javascript, HTML, CSS, UNIX Shells, Haskell, SQL

Proficient once upon a time in SML/NJ

Tools: Git, Subversion, GDB, Intellij, JUnit, Vim